

Testifies FDR Ordered Chiefs To Await Overt Move By Japs

By JACK BELL
Washington, Dec. 11 (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall testified today that one of his subordinates, without his knowledge, ordered Japanese code-cracking secrets withheld from the army board that investigated the Pearl Harbor disaster.

He also testified that President Roosevelt personally ordered included in prewar warning messages to American commanders instructions to wait for an overt act by Japan.

Marshall told the joint Congressional Pearl Harbor committee that the decision to withhold the code secret was made by his deputy, Lt. Gen. Joseph McNarney, now successor to Dwight D. Eisenhower as European commander.

Explain "Magic" Release
This testimony was elicited by Sen. Ferguson (R., Mich.) winding up three days of extensive cross-examination.

McNarney, Marshall said, specifically told two staff officers, Brig. Gen. Russell A. Osmun and Col. Carter Clarke, to pass the word to witnesses that they were not to discuss the code-cracking, known as "magic."

Meantime, Marshall told the committee he subsequently learned that the Navy Board of Inquiry was introducing the "magic" messages, because "Secretary Knox had assured Admiral Kimmel (Pearl Harbor commander December 7, 1941), that they would be introduced."

At that point, Marshall went to the Army Pearl Harbor Investigating board and in a secret session explained "magic." It did not become part of the record, however.

Followed FDR's Orders

Marshall said around that time he heard a rumor he had ordered destroyed a magic message—the elusive "winds" message which Tokyo reportedly used to tip off its diplomats on the arrival of the state of war.

The general said "it was found that there was no basis for that rumor" and moreover, he never heard of the "winds" message.

In earlier testimony Marshall informed the committee that the President's directions were being followed when Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short was told "the United States desired that Japan commit the first overt act." Short was the army commander in Hawaii at the time of Pearl Harbor.

Quizzed On 1940 Alert
The former army chief of staff said he had a "dim recollection" that Mr. Roosevelt personally gave him those instructions. He said he was worried about how to transmit them without too rigidly restraining defense actions.

Senator Ferguson (R., Mich.) opened the fifth day of testimony for the five-star general with questions about an alert Marshall had ordered in Hawaii on June 17, 1940.

At that time the Hawaii garrison was ordered on a full alert, with the request that Lt. Gen. C. B. Herron, then commander there, acknowledged to Washington that the order had been carried out.

Ferguson noted that Marshall's November 27, 1941 message to Short, who succeeded Herron, told Short to take measures he deemed necessary and report what those measures were.

"Isn't it the procedure that if a commander is told to take measures he deems necessary and report back and you are not satisfied with the measures he has taken, that you would advise him differently?" the Michigan Senator asked.

Discuss Procedure
"I would assume so," Marshall replied quietly.

"That's the correct army procedure?"

"Yes, sir, that's right," the general said.

Short has contended that when he reported he had placed into effect only an anti-sabotage alert and Washington gave him no further instructions, he felt the measures he had taken were satisfactory.

Ferguson and another Republican committee member, Representative Keefe (Wis.), both have evinced interest in why the 1940 orders for Hawaii alert were, they said, more specific than the November 27, 1941 "war warning" that went from Washington to Honolulu.

"Tension Grew By The Hour"
Ferguson told Marshall through a long list of intercepted Tokyo messages to Ambassador Nomura and Envoy Kurosaki in Washington, he was striving to ascertain at what point the high command here thought war inevitable.

Marshall said he couldn't recall a specific point, but that "tension grew by the hour" as each message got more specific about the destruction of Japanese codes in the embassy here, and elsewhere.

"Didn't that indicate that it meant war, not merely breaking off diplomatic relations?" Ferguson asked.

"In general, yes," Marshall said.

BLACK RENAMED BY DIRECTORS; LAUD HUTCHISON

The Gettysburg school board held its organization meeting Monday night at the high school, welcomed its new member and elected officers. Both President Charles S. Black and Vice President Charles M. Sheely were re-elected. George T. Raffensperger took his place as the new member of the board, succeeding A. E. Hutchison.

Board members and School Superintendent Lloyd C. Keefeauver united in paying tribute to Mr. Hutchison's long years of "loyal service" to the Gettysburg schools. In the 12 years that Mr. Hutchison has been a member of the board, he has never missed a meeting, President Black declared. He served as board president several years.

To the board, following his re-election, President Black said: "I want to thank you," and to Mr. Hutchison, he added: "I want to thank the retiring member of this board for his loyal service during the past 12 years. During the time that I have been here I have never known him to be absent from a meeting."

Committees Named
Secretary Mahlon P. Hartzell, Sr., and other members of the board also extended their appreciation for Mr. Hutchison's services.

"My associations with the school have been wonderful," Mr. Hutchison replied. He declared that he was forced to retire from the school board because of the press of his own business, but added that "I will feel lost, now that I am leaving."

Mr. Raffensperger and Mr. Black, who was re-elected to the board, were sworn in by Secretary Hartzell. The president named the following committees:

Property: Ralph Z. Oyler, chairman; Charles Sheely and George T. Raffensperger; supplies: Mahlon P. Hartzell, Sr., chairman; Charles H. Bender and Paul M. Rohrlaugh. They are the same as for the past year except that Mr. Raffensperger takes Mr. Hutchison's place.

Leave Extended
An extension of leave was voted to Robert C. Diehl, former commercial teacher, to allow him to complete his studies for his master's degree. He had been granted military leave.

The board voted to employ Miss Harriet L. Mayes, Red Lion, as art teacher, at a salary of $1,500. She will graduate at Pennsylvania State college next week and assume her duties at Gettysburg January 21, with the opening of the new semester.

The board received a request from J. Herbert Weikert, tax collector, for an increase from 2 to 2½ per cent in the fees allowed him for the collection of school taxes. No action was taken.

Stores Fairly Busy On First Evening

"Fair" pre-holiday business was reported by local stores that remained open Monday evening for the convenience of Christmas shoppers and will continue to be open each evening until Christmas. They will also be open Thursday afternoons this week and next.

The food stores have announced they will be open Thursday afternoon, December 20, and on the evenings of December 21, 22 and 24.

Local business places report pre-holiday business generally as "good" although some war-induced shortages make shopping complicated.

COUNTY WOMAN CRITICAL FROM RIFLE WOUND

Mrs. Alice Wolf, 42, East Berlin R. 1, was in critical condition in Warner hospital today from what state police said was a self-inflicted bullet wound in the forehead between the eyes.

She was found early this morning by her husband, Pierson M. Wolf, 48, slumped in an outbuilding with a small 22-calibre pistol grasped in her right hand, and blood oozing out of her forehead.

The pistol was a home-made weapon fashioned from the barrel of a Hamilton 22-calibre rifle, state police said. It had been used Sunday for target shooting by a son, Adam Wolf, 15, and placed in a cupboard in a first floor closet.

Mr. Wolf told State Trooper Frank Yercavage that his wife retired at 10 p. m. Monday night. At 4 o'clock she woke him, and said she was not feeling well. She went down stairs, he said, and he went back to sleep. At 5:30 the husband arose, went down stairs, and was unable to find his wife.

He told Trooper Yercavage that he found her in the outbuilding, carried her into the house and then drove to the home of Dr. Eugene Elgin, East Berlin. Dr. Elgin returned with him. State police and Dr. Chester G. Crist, Gettysburg, Adams county coroner, were called at 7:45 a. m. Mrs. Wolf was later removed to the hospital here in the R. L. Pittenger ambulance.

Mr. Wolf told state police that his wife had been receiving medical attention at various times for the past 20 years. He said there had been no domestic troubles, and her attempted suicide was laid to the condition of her health.

The husband said that Mrs. Wolf (Please Turn to Page Two)

Trial Of Japs Starts Dec. 18

Tokyo, Dec. 11 (AP)—The first of 300 small-time Japanese charged with atrocities against Allied war prisoners will go on trial Dec. 18 under a speed-up schedule, it was announced today.

The announcement left undetermined, however, the date when war-time Premier Hedeke Tojo—No. 1 on the Allied list of suspected war criminals—will face the Allied tribunal.

Lt. Gen. C. P. Hall, acting U. S. Eighth Army commander, said trials of Japanese accused of mistreating Allied war prisoners might be held concurrently after the first begins next Tuesday in Yokohama. Three courtrooms are available there and two more will be after Jan. 1.

ALL SCHOOLS EXCEED BOND QUOTAS HERE

Every Gettysburg school sold bonds beyond its quota by December 7, Miss N. Louise Ramer, education chairman of the schools in the bond drive announced today. They will continue to sell bonds right up to the start of the Christmas vacation, December 21, she added.

The school quota was $50,033.30, and sales total $72,126.15, showing that the Gettysburg schools have exceeded their goal by $22,092.85.

A special Pearl Harbor award was announced today. To the student in each building who sells the largest number of E bonds between December 7 and December 21, a set of official surrender papers between the United States and Japan will be given.

November Sales

Sales reported November 1 to December 7 were as follows: Gettysburg high school, goal $36,000; sales, $39,823.65; Lincoln school, goal, $12,000; sales, $27,722.75; Meade school, goal, $1,508.30; sales, $1,886.70; high street school, goal, $525; sales, $2,693.05.

Lincoln school not only more than doubled its goal, but was the only building to achieve the purchase goal of more than 90 per cent of school enrollment; 98 per cent of the students bought stamps and bonds during the month of November. This school will be given a Minute Man flag to fly with the American flag for a period of a month. High street school made its goal more than five times, another fine record, according to Miss Ramer.

$1,350,149.00 IN BOND SALES

Although Adams county's bond sales in the Victory Loan campaign total $1,350,149 this area is short of its quota of E bonds and corporate bond sales, the county War Finance committee announced today.

Sale of E bonds rose to $223,252.50 over the week-end leaving $126,747.50 to be sold to attain the quota of $350,000.

Sale of all types of bonds to individuals skyrocketed to $1,093,684 or an over-subscription of $203,684.

Corporate bond sales were reported at $256,465, but this far from represents the total sales in the county. Today's figures are the official figures from the Federal Reserve bank, Philadelphia, which reported to the county committee "a tremendous amount of unprocessed corporate bonds."

This means that a large amount of corporate bond sales have not been processed through the Federal Reserve bank and have not been reported officially to Adams county.

One observer said that when this block of sales is reported Adams county will go over the top on corporate sales. Sale of this type of bond closed on Saturday.

Sale of E bonds through the end of the year will be credited against the county quota.

Grade Schools To Present Operetta

The Arendtsville grade school will present a children's operetta, "Where Was Santa?" Friday evening, December 14, in the high school auditorium under the direction of Miss Louise Gable, vocal music supervisor of the Arendtsville and Franklin township schools.

A large cast of characters and choruses will carry the action of the children's Christmas story with the scene laid at the North Pole just before Christmas. John Frederick will play the role of "Santa" and will be ably supported by Jane Flickinger, as "Wixwax," and Clyde Kimple, as the "Crocked Man."

Special dance effects intersperse the action and two carols, "Christmas Bells Are Ringing" and "Good King Wenceslas," will be sung by the choruses.

MORE CARE IN DRIVING NEEDED SAYS HARPSTER

Old Man Winter dropped a blanket of light snow on the city Monday, causing motorists to reduce speed and pedestrians to step more carefully.

Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster took this occasion today to warn motorists that this is not a deep snow. "A street just ahead may appear to be clear, but to the driver's surprise, a frozen puddle or slippery stretch might send his car skidding into another vehicle, a pedestrian, or into a ditch," said the chief.

He pointed out that it may be dry in the morning, covered with snow at noon, and turn icy by nightfall. Streets may be clear for blocks, yet a patch of ice or small drift of snow can spell trouble unless the motorist is alert to sense danger and drive mentally to avoid it.

"Pedestrians, particularly elderly persons and younger boys and girls, need to be given special attention by drivers," the chief noted. "Children quite naturally are thrilled by the early snow, and they'll be out with their sleds to coast on neighborhood hills. I urge all parents to admonish their boys and girls to be careful when coasting."

Declaring that the major winter driving hazards are skidding and reduced visibility, Chief Harpster offered the following rules for preventing traffic accidents at this season of the year:

ABC's of Winter Driving
Test brakes for simultaneous gripping. Have tire chains in car, and use when needed. Check windshield wiper and defroster. Be sure lights are working, and in proper alignment.

Reduce speed. Contrary to belief of many, adherence to the legal speed limit is no guarantee of safety on winter roads. Often, speed must be kept at 20 miles per hour, even less, to avoid collision with other vehicles or pedestrians.

Allow plenty of room between you and the car ahead. Avoid need for sudden stops. Be especially cautious in passing. When not protected by tire chains, light application of (Please Turn to Page Two)

Mercury Drops To 26 Degrees Here

Chilly winds sweeping across snow-covered fields and mountains of this county dropped the mercury only six degrees below freezing but it looked and seemed a lot colder. Monday's light snowfall began to blow across fields and highways during the night and started little drifts along the west side of north-south roads.

The official minimum here was 26 degrees during the night but a bright sun boosted the mercury only to 30 degrees by 11 a. m. At Arendtsville the weather station reported a low of 24 degrees for the night.

S. Sgt. Harbaugh received the Combat Infantryman's badge, Good Conduct medal, Victory, American Theater and Asiatic-Pacific service ribbons with three bronze stars.

Guests at the dinner included the Misses Marjorie and Myrna Harbaugh, and Robert E. Snyder, Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Hodson, York, Miss Helena Cunningham and Freddie Snyder, Gettysburg.

ICY ROADS ARE CAUSE OF THREE AUTO ACCIDENTS

Icy highways were blamed by state police for three automobile accidents Monday.

A Ford sedan operated by Viola M. Clapper, New Oxford R. 2, ran into the rear of a Ford truck owned by A. V. Walker, New Oxford R. 2, at 11:45 a. m., a mile east of New Oxford on the Lincoln highway. The truck, proceeding west in the same direction as the Clapper car, was being towed, state police said. Damage to the car was estimated at $240 and to the truck $10. No one was injured. A charge of following another vehicle too closely will be filed against the driver of the car with Justice of the Peace Gerald Orndorff, New Oxford, police said. The accident was investigated by Trooper George Ackerson.

Another Collision
An automobile operated by Charles H. Schlicht, Fairfield R. 1, skidded on the slippery highway on the Gettysburg-Fairfield road a mile west of Gettysburg at 1:10 p. m. Monday and turned over when the driver lost control. Trooper Ackerson also reported. Damage was estimated at $200. No one was injured.

Automobiles operated by Hilda M. Brodbeck, Hanover R. 1 and John F. Klinefelter, 262 Baltimore street, Gettysburg, figured in a collision at the intersection of Lincoln highway and Berlin avenue in New Oxford at 5:06 p. m. Monday. Damage to the Klinefelter car was placed at $200 and to the Brodbeck car $100. State police said the Brodbeck car had stopped at a stop sign on Berlin avenue, and then started forward. The driver will be arrested for failing to yield the right of way and arraigned before Justice of the Peace Claude S. Straley, New Oxford, state police said.

An automobile operated by Joseph A. Moore, York, skidded on Route 116 a mile east of Bonneville at 1:45 p. m. Monday and struck the car of Vernon L. Derr, Gettysburg R. 2. Mrs. Russell Derr, 52, riding on the front seat of the Derr car, was thrown forward and suffered a bump on her forehead. Damage to the Derr car was placed at $45 and to the Moore car at $30. Moore will be arrested for failure to yield half of the highway, and arraigned before Justice of the Peace Leo Storm, Bonneville, Trooper Frank Yercavage, who investigated the accident, said.

MAY UP PRICE OF BEVERAGE

When beverages are offered by public eating and drinking places in quantities twice or triple the only sizes for which they have established ceilings, prices may be double or triple the seller's ceiling for the smaller sizes, the Harrisburg District Office of Price Administration announced today.

This action, effective December 15 is taken at the request of the Restaurant Industry Advisory committee to provide ceilings for new sizes of drinks, including milk, for which a restaurant or tavern would not have an established ceiling under the existing April 4-10, 1943, "freeze."

OPA pointed out that if the usual quantity is increased only a fraction, the higher price cannot be charged. The quantity must be a multiple of the established smaller size, i. e., double, triple, etc., in order to qualify for the higher price ceilings.

The higher price may be charged for the larger quantity only if the establishment continues to offer the customary smaller size also, and the smaller size must appear on menus and price lists as conspicuously as the larger size.

Within three days after an increased quantity is first offered at a higher price, a report must be made to the OPA District Office, giving the price being asked and the quantity.

Assumpsit Action Is Started Here

An action in assumpsit was filed Monday in the office of Adams County Prothonotary Arthur H. Shields by the Cooper Corporation, Findlay, Ohio, against Joseph Pierce, also known as Joseph Perskey, doing business as the Long Island Tire company, Reading township.

Papers show the plaintiff obtained judgment in New York State Supreme court November 21, 1936, for $12,940.43, only $976.38 of which has been paid. A balance of $11,964.05, plus interest, is sought.

Mrs. Arnold Gives $10,000 To Local YW For Trained Full-Time "Y" Secretary

Announcement was made today of the gift of $10,000 to the Gettysburg Young Women's Christian Association by Mrs. Luella Musselman Arnold, of Biglerville. The announcement was made by Franklin R. Bigham, Esq., who prepared the trust agreement covering the donation, details of which were completed Monday afternoon.

The money may be used solely for the payment by the YWCA of the services of a full-time, trained YWCA secretary here.

The gift is to be known as the Luella Musselman Arnold YWCA-Hospital Fund. Under terms of the trust agreement the Warner hospital would receive any principal and interest remaining unused by the YWCA at the end of a seven-year period.

May Use $2,500 a Year
The Gettysburg National Bank is named trustee of the fund.

Under the terms of the agreement between Mrs. Arnold and the YWCA, there may be paid by the trustee from the interest or principal of the fund not more than $1,250 every six months upon written request from the YWCA. The request shall certify that the money is being used solely for the purpose of paying a full-time "Y" secretary.

There is no requirement that any part of the fund be used in any year or any six-month period but if the YWCA board does not use all of the fund and interest by November 30, 1952, the amount remaining will be turned over to the Warner hospital and the agreement will be terminated.

Already Seeking Secretary

The agreement gives the YWCA use of the fund for a minimum of four years and extends its possible use over a period of seven years. One section of the agreement makes the gift irrevocable.

The local YWCA has been without the services of a full-time trained secretary for a number of years. Ever since such services were discontinued, chiefly for lack of funds, the successive "Y" boards of directors have listed the employment of a full-time secretary as one of their goals.

At a meeting of the board of directors last week, the personnel committee reported progress in its search for a qualified secretary and said that such a person may be available early next year.

ROTARIANS SEE BOND DRIVE FILM

The story of a sergeant who had lost both hands in combat, in the process of learning to use artificial hands, and of his readjustment to civilian life, was graphically told in a motion picture at the Gettysburg Rotary club meeting Monday evening.

Sponsored by the Adams County war bond committee, the picture showed the mental and physical sufferings of a disabled soldier, typical of thousands of similar cases growing out of the war.

Dr. Norman Kirk, surgeon-general of the U. S. army, spoke in the picture of the great need of buying bonds to help carry on the work of rehabilitation.

A second reel, showing the operation of radar equipment in the bombing of Japan, demonstrated methods of accurate bombing of a target, even though the target were invisible.

Announcement was made of the annual Christmas party and ladies' night to be held at Hotel Gettysburg next Monday night. President James S. Cairns presided. Rotarian guests included C. A. Beck, Piedmont, W. Va. and Roy E. Cook, York.

DIVORCES ON INCREASE IN OLD ENGLAND

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP World Traveler

London, Dec. 11 (P)—War has brought England a heavy increase in divorces, most of which have been based on infidelity, and in addition to those that actually have reached the courts there has been a flood of matrimonial upsets which have been adjusted through the kindly offices of welfare societies.

This seems so contrary to the ultra-conservative character of the Briton, who always has been averse to washing family linen in public, that in searching for the reasons one naturally comes up against the question whether there has been any change in moral standards.

Mrs. Mac and I have been delving into this highly important subject in many places, including the crowded tenement district of south London, and have talked with three British experts—one military and two civilian—who are engaged in handling thousands of so-called "poor person's cases," that is, the cases of folks who haven't enough money to finance litigation without aid.

No Slump In Morals

This widely experienced trio agrees that a slump in John Bull's moral standards is not among the reasons for the increase in divorce. There obviously has been a slump in conduct, due to the extreme circumstances created by the world conflict but the moral outlook is held to remain about the same.

If this seems paradoxical, in view of the fact that most of the divorce cases are based on adultery, it may be explained by the fact that atomic age society reveals what it used to conceal. When I first came to England during the last war, England as a whole regarded divorce as a disgrace, quite apart from the religious condemnation of it. Then, too, there was the code which held that Caesar's wife must be above reproach, but that Caesar himself could raise a fair amount of devil without rebuke.

There was one divorce law for men and another for women. These were based on the theory that the man was lord and master of the family by divine right, and that by the same token he could do what he wished without infidelity.

Revise Old Law

A husband could divorce his wife for misconduct, but she couldn't divorce him on that ground.

In 1938 Parliament altered the divorce law so that a woman could get a divorce for adultery, desertion for three years or more, physical (not mental) cruelty and incurable insanity. The result was an immediate heavy increase in the number of suits filed. This slumped temporarily after the outbreak of war, but the present year has seen all previous figures exceeded. This may represent a piling up of war time matrimonial grievances, although the general trend is said to be towards more divorces.

had had no previous experience with firearms until Sunday, when she asked her son, Adam, to show her how to shoot the pistol. The son took her into the yard, explained use of the gun and let her fire two shots, Wolf told Trooper Yercavage.

Partially Paralyzed

There were cartridges for the pistol in the house, or Mrs. Wolf might have got them out of the pockets of a pair of trousers worn Sunday by her son, when she washed them Monday, Mr. Wolf said. The bullet was a .22-caliber short.

The Wolf family resides on a farm on the York Springs-East Berlin road in Latimer township, about five miles from East Berlin. There are four children, Adam, 15; Kenneth, 13; Chester, 7, and Richard, one year old.

The outbuilding where Mr. Wolf found his wife is approximately 45 feet from the kitchen door. Mrs. Wolf wore a black coat of her husband's and a shawl over her nightgown, and a pair of slippers when she went out. A wad of paper was found stuffed in her mouth. Although conscious, Mrs. Wolf was unable to speak, and was partially paralyzed.

brakes on-off-and-on to point of impending skid will give better control than a single strong pressure on the brake pedal.

Care On Curves

Take it easy on curves, even when aided by sand or chains. Decrease speed well in advance of intersections or curves. Go slow on bridges. The chains are indispensable under extreme conditions of ice and snow. They cut stopping distance about in half, and they provide needed traction—often essential for getting underway or climbing a grade.

Citing the National Safety Council, Chief Harpster said that more Americans have been killed and injured since Pearl Harbor by traffic accidents than were killed or wounded in the war, and that winter is a salient of the traffic safety problem.

HOSPITAL BILL STRIKES SNAG

By EDWIN B. HAKINSON

Washington, Dec. 11 (P)—President Truman's proposals for a broad national health program posed a threat today to Senate approval of a $700,000,000 hospital program.

The curious snag resulted from months of work by a bi-partisan trio, Senators Taft (R., Ohio), Hill (D., Ala.), and Ellender (D., La.) in drafting their plan to provide the country with more hospitals and health centers.

They introduced their bill before Mr. Truman's health program message reached Capitol Hill.

Yesterday Senator Murray (D., Mont.), chairman of the Labor Committee which approved the hospital bill, offered seven amendments which he told the Senate would bring the measure into line with Mr. Truman's program.

Among other things Murray's amendments would double the amount of federal funds and strengthen federal control of the entire program.

Taft promptly served notice he was opposed to Murray's amendments. And Hill, Democratic whip, indicated he would support the Ohio Republican because of the long period already devoted to perfecting the hospital bill.

Murray urged a federal contribution of $150,000,000 for each of the next five years, instead of $75,000,000 previously agreed upon. He also asked that health centers be provided on the basis of one for each 10,000 of population compared with 30,000 in the bi-partisan bill.

SAYS GAS USED IN NEW GUINEA

By HAMILTON FARON

Tokyo, Dec. 11 (P)—Brig. Gen. Charles E. Loucks declared Monday that the Japanese had used poison gas against American troops "in a few isolated instances," notably in New Guinea late in the war.

The chemical warfare officer on General MacArthur's staff said the most recent instance was March 5, 1945, when a Japanese patrol set off vomiting gas candles in a signal corps area at Biak, New Guinea.

Loucks said several Americans were made severely ill but none killed.

Japanese officials he has talked to, he added, denied knowledge of this or other reported isolated use of gas but they conceded they were unable to say whether individual field commanders had used it.

Loucks asserted that the Japanese also had tossed gas grenades at American concentrations at Biak and had used gas against the Chinese in China.

The officer said the Japanese had a modern, well-equipped gas chemical warfare school at Narashino but abandoned the manufacture of poison gas in 1943 because, as questioned Japanese officials told him "we believed the Allied statement that gas would be used only in retaliation."

"Our training and equipment were decidedly superior to Japan's," Loucks said. "Despite Japanese denials that they contemplated use of gas against U. S. troops, it is apparent that our extensive preparations were the biggest single factor in preventing gas warfare."

MANIAC SOUGHT IN NEW KILLING

Chicago, Dec. 11 (P)—The brutal murder of tiny, comely Frances Brown, 33 year old stenographer and former WAVE, by a man police describe as a maniac, was under investigation by Chicago's top detectives today.

"Whoever the killer was, he's a maniac, and we must get him," said Capt. Frank Reynolds as police intensified their search to solve the latest in a series of slayings in Chicago in the last week. Police reports disclose nine persons were slain in the last week. Three of the deaths have not been solved.

Miss Brown, discharged from the Waves last September after three years of service, was killed some time Monday morning in her apartment at the Pine Crest hotel in the north side Lakeview district. The slayer twice shot and twice plunged an eight-inch bread knife into the throat of the 95-pound, five foot, one inch Miss Brown and then left her nude body hanging over a bathtub in her blood-spattered apartment. A hotel maid found her body.

The killer, before leaving, wrote a message on the wall in lipstick in large, uneven letters. It read: "For heavens sake catch me before I kill more. I cannot control myself."

Criminologists studied the writing in efforts to obtain clues. The letters were three to six inches high and the highest sentence was about six feet from the floor.

MAJORS REMOVE CHANDLER FROM DICTATOR ROLE

By CHARLES DUNKLEY

Chicago, Dec. 11 (AP)—Commissioner A. B. Chandler had a paradoxical vote of confidence from his baseball bosses, six minor leagues were promoted a notch, and two national league doormats had launched a 1946 rebuilding program as the major leagues moved into the second day of their winter meeting today.

Chandler, rebuffed by the minor leagues at their annual conclave in Columbus last week, was depicted by the majors as a victim of "misunderstanding," but also defined as a commissioner without the dictatorial power of his predecessor, the late Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

The Majors approved the amendment to the Major-Minor agreement adopted by the Minors last week which removes from the commissioner authority to rule baseball legislation "detrimental." This was the same rule adopted by the Majors a few weeks after Landis' death in November, 1944, and before Chandler became commissioner.

Can Over-ride Veto

It was not the intent, the Majors said after a joint session yesterday, to "take away any of the commissioner's authority to investigate, determine and punish conduct detrimental to baseball." He can still suggest reconsideration by the leagues of legislation he considers "impractical or disadvantageous" to baseball, but the owners can over-

Feller Hopes Baby To Be Right-Hander

Chicago, Dec. 11 (AP)—Bob Feller, Cleveland's pitching ace, excitedly telephoned from nearby Waukegan today to announce the arrival of a seven pound, nine ounce boy.

It's the Feller's first youngster. "I hope he'll be another right-hander, but he's a little guy right now," Feller said.

The Fellers were married Jan. 16, 1943.

ride his veto which they couldn't do to Landis under the old code.

The unofficial highlight of the opening session was the sale by the Cincinnati Reds of veteran first baseman Frank (Buck) McCormick to the Philadelphia Phillies for a reported $30,000 in cash and one player to be named later.

Thus the Phils, last in the 1945 national circuit race, have done the only real bartering of the Minor-Major sessions. At Columbus, the Phils obtained Pitcher Johnny Humphries from the Chicago White Sox.

Ambition Attained

The Majors approved the boost of the international league, American association and Pacific coast league to "AAA" classification; the southern association and Texas league to "AA;" and the south Atlantic league to "A." Thus the top Minor league clubs have attained their long ambition for higher player draft prices—in the case of the three former class AA, a hike from $7,500 to $10,000 per player.

The bigwigs huddled in a joint American-National league session to study the plea of the Pacific coast league to become a third major league, but deferred action until Wednesday's closing joint meeting with Commissioner Chandler.

SCHOOL QUINTS START SEASON

By TOM SHRIVER
Harrisburg, Dec. 11 (AP)—With more than 60 games scheduled for tonight Pennsylvania's scholastic basketball season gets off to an earlier start than at any time in recent years.

The actual league campaigns, leading toward the coveted state championship battle on March 30, will not open until January. But most of the potential contenders are not waiting for the new year to swing into action.

FIFTY YEARS AGO
Scott-Snyder Wedding: Promptly at 11:30 a. m. on December 10th, Miss Sarah Emma Snyder was married to Mr. J. Luther Scott at the home of the bride's father, Mr. Daniel K. Snyder, of McKnightstown. Preceded by parents of both the contracting parties they advanced to where the preacher and guests were and after the very short services were congratulated by over sixty guests after which they enjoyed an elegant dinner. After a wedding trip they will make their home near McKnightstown. The presents were many and useful. The groom was dressed in black; the bride in cream laced and carried chrysanthemums.

Marriages: Jacobs-Trump.—November 28, at Mt. Holly, by Rev. J. E. Zenger, Charles W. Jacobs to Miss Ida Trump, both of Lattimore township.

Kappes-Lightner.—December 10, at Fairfield, by Rev. W. J. D. Scherer, Charles A. Kappes to Miss Annie E. Lightner, both of this place.

Rife-Wisler.—November 28, at Arendtsville, by Rev. D. T. Koser, Charles Rife to Miss Jennie M. Wisler, both of Franklin township.

Local Miscellany: Amos F. Bushey has commenced work on the erection of a large barn on his lower farm.

Josephus Mills, of Balrow, has received an original pension of $6 a month with $96 back pay.

An entertainment and Bean Soup will be given in Corp. Skelly G.A.R. Post Room, on the evening of December 16th. Ten cents admission, including bean soup will be charged. The boys were enjoying skating last week. It was cold enough to freeze over the Monocacy.

William P. Quimby, Esq., is erecting a stable on the lot of his Chambersburg street house.

W. T. Spangler has built a large warehouse for his agriculture implements.

The Gettysburg Fire Company will run an Excursion to Baltimore on January 15th, starting at Fairfield.

James W. Weaver, of this place, has been granted a pension of $6 a month, with $40 back pay.

Personal Mention: Governor Hastings and wife, State Treasurer S. M. Jackson, Auditor General Mylin, Mrs. Rankin, of Bellefonte, General John P. Taylor, Major Hartzhorn and Colonel and Mrs. John P. Nicholson arrived in town Wednesday afternoon. They visited the field and returned Thursday morning. They were registered at the Eagle.

Riley Harnish is in town again on a visit.

George J. Benner, Esq., Edward M. Bender, David M. Wolf and Guyon H. Buehler were in Philadelphia last week attending the meeting of the Masonic Grand Lodge.

Father Crist's lecture in the Catholic church Tuesday evening attracted a large audience and was much enjoyed. His subject was "The Life and Character of St. Francis Xavier, the Apostle of the Indies." The music was by the Gettysburg Orchestra.

A Heavy Loss: About 4:30 Sunday morning the family of Peter Kready at Orrtanna were awakened and found his building occupied by fire. The fire had made such headway that nothing could be done. The loss is a total one and amounts to $5,000. The insurance is $3,200.

Mr. Kready thinks the fire originated in the room over the store, and puts no belief in the report that the store was robbed and then set on fire. We understand it is Mr. Kready's intention to rebuild.

Great Private Sale of All Personal Property at the Gettysburg Springs Hotel at and below cost: Nearly everything in the Hotel was bought in large quantities, exclusively from Manufacturers and Importers, net cash, in the panic of 1894, which will save the purchaser, the Jobber's and Retailer's profit. The Furniture and fixtures embrace everything that is required for housekeeping.

The articles required to carry on so large a house as the Springs Hotel are too numerous to mention. Come and see them, bring your wares with straw or wrappings and rope. You will not go away without buying. We specially note, however, the low prices of Oak Suites of Furniture, Hair Mattresses, Springs at almost half the price retailed for, Parlor Suites at about half the price retailed at in the city, Upright Piano, Carpets and Matting at 50 per cent below what they can be sold for in a regular way, and a thousand other things which all families need.

The house will be comfortably heated. The large dining room will be used as a Store-room, where samples of everything will be exhibited.

The terms will be cash, or negotiable paper acceptable to Banks payable at dates, on or before April 1st, 1896.

Sale will commence on Wednesday, December 11th, 1895.

BOASTFUL GRANDPA
My grandpa says that he could grow

A set of whiskers white as snow
And do, if need for him there wuz,
'Bout everything that Santa does.

My grandpa, who is very proud,
Insists his laugh is just as loud
As Santa's an' his stummock shakes
Just like the jelly grandma makes.

My grandpa, as his nose he blows,
Says he knows all that Santa knows,
And are the children being good,
And do they eat the things they should?

But when we ask him how it's done,
How Santa knows us every one,
And what we want, he says: "Well,
Well!
I promised Santa not to tell."

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

QUIET AND CONTENTMENT
I turn, again and again, to my little volume marked "R.L.S.," an anthology of the choice thoughts of Robert Louis Stevenson. It has travelled thousands of miles with me. So I like to share it with others.

Here is a thought from this small book. He said, "What I want is a happy-minded Smethurst placed here and there at ugly corners of my life's wayside, preaching his gospel of quiet and contentment." Smethurst was apparently a friend whom Stevenson greatly admired.

I wonder if that isn't just what we all want, ever near us—someone to bring us back to quiet and sanity, and to teach us the gospel of contentment with what we have and are. I find many a Smethurst in my journey through life, and from many a volume in my library I find him concealed, as well.

For years I have made it a habit to read something each night before retiring that is consoling and inspiring. I keep dozens of such volumes near me so that I can select from any at will. Did I have but one book, I would select the Bible. Nothing in all literature is more consoling to the mind than a reading of the New Testament.

I often read Montaigne and delight in his honest appraisal of life's values. I have a small volume of Marcus Aurelius handy, and "The Roadmender," by Michael Fairless, which I have read and re-read. But everyone to his taste. All good books are precious!

We all need someone or some one thing to mark our paths, to cheer us on, to offer hope and assurance, and to add caliber to our faith. It may be a friend, a beloved book or an ideal. But it must be something.

Separated from the busy day and from all the activities that draw from us our major strength, must be something to give us quiet and contentment—something to soothe and smooth our way through what at times seems a most disquieting and confusing life.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Spur of Confidence"

Noted Criminal
Lawyer Expires

Philadelphia, Dec. 11 (AP)—John R. K. Scott, former Congressman and a prominent criminal lawyer, died Sunday at Lankenau hospital after a long illness. He was 72.

Long active in Republican party ranks, Scott served Pennsylvania in Congress from 1914 to 1918. In addition, he was a state Senator and a member of the state House of Representatives.

Scott, however, gained more fame as a criminal lawyer and is believed to have won more acquittals for clients accused of murder than any other Philadelphia attorney. He lived in nearby Valley Forge.

TYPHOID BOMBS CALLED THREAT OF FUTURE WAR

Philadelphia, Dec. 11 (AP)—The loosing of typhoid germs "in a future war" will equal the terror of the atomic bomb as a weapon of destruction, says Dr. Harold C. Urey, Nobel prize winner and one of the men responsible for development of the atom bomb.

"I would like to see world law stating that no atom bombs be made, that each country could have only a certain amount of fissionable material, that no country could make bacterial warfare," the University of Chicago scientist said in an address yesterday at Drexel Institute of Technology Founder's Day exercises.

"The potential ruthless use of bombs leads to the twin threat of bacteriological warfare," he asserted, "by the loosing of such germs as typhoid and anthrax."

Dr. Harold Willis Dadds, president of Princeton university, asserted that skills and technology "alone will not save us" in the atomic age and pointed out that the knowledge of social sciences, art, literature, ethics and philosophy must be applied "to a world where traditional moral values collapsed as we know they have in Europe of today."

Clear Objectives
But Dr. Harvey N. Davis, president of Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, N. J., insisted in his address that "technical education" was important.

"Technical education seems to have clearly defined objectives whereas cultural education apparently has to formulate its aim in more general terms," he said.

The Founder's Day exercises featured the inauguration of Dr. James Creese as Drexel's sixth president.

In an address, Dr. Creese said four months of compulsory military training "will suffice for the drill and hardening of an infantryman."

"After that," he asserted, "let those who are qualified be sent, with scholarship aid they require, wherever the best training for specialists is obtainable."

Accidents Near Pre-War Totals

Harrisburg, Dec. 11 (AP)—Highway accident fatalities in Pennsylvania are climbing toward pre-war totals with 151 traffic deaths in October against 135 in the corresponding month last year, the Bureau of Highway Safety reported today.

T. Elmer Transeau, director of the bureau, listed 1,033 deaths up to November 1, and an increase of 49 or 4.98 per cent over the same 1944 period.

The bureau said the number killed on rural highways totaled 544, a 7.1 per cent increase over last year, and urban fatalities 489, a gain of 2.7 per cent. There were 489 pedestrians killed so far this year, a decrease of 4.1 per cent from 1944.

The report noted that 230 persons were killed in October, 1941, but that in the following year the total dropped to 105.

There are 35 counties where increases are recorded for the first 10 months and the numbers range from one to 12, the report stated. "Lehigh county leads this list with an increase of 12 deaths; Berks county is second with 11. Fayette county is third with 10 and Centre and Northumberland counties are fourth, each with nine deaths."

Advance Release Of Navy Personnel

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP)—Navy men and women in this country who under previous rules would be eligible for release by December 31 now may be discharged immediately.

Announcing this last night, the Navy said the plan is to let as many as possible arrive home for Christmas.

Men serving on ships now in U. S. ports will be among those eligible. The only persons in the new category who may be retained are those whose services cannot be spared, or whose processing would interfere with prompt release of others previously eligible.

Missing Woman's Body Is Recovered

Meadville, Pa., Dec. 11 (AP)—Coroner Luther J. King said the fully-clothed body of Mrs. Ruth Hibbard Heald, 33, of nearby Saegertown, was removed from French Creek several miles north of here Sunday.

District Attorney Kenneth W. Rice said a Meadville trapper, V. W. Eller, Jr., discovered the body floating against a log in the stream. An autopsy will be held, Rice said.

The woman's husband, Melvin D. Heald, 37, a recent navy dischargee, had reported her missing Dec. 1. He said he last saw his wife washing dishes in the kitchen of their home.

In the search for Mrs. Heald, firemen had dragged French creek at Meadville and at Saegertown.

REDS PERMIT CHINA'S MEN IN MANCHURIA

By SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, Dec. 11 (AP)—Russia agreed today to permit Chinese government troops to fly into Manchuria and take over its most strategic cities, Central News Agency reported.

After weeks of tense negotiations, during which Chinese Communists had sought to take over ports and cities, the agency said the Chungking government had won permission to plant itself firmly in this territory held vital for the recovery of war-ravaged China.

It reported that Central government troops would be permitted by the Russians to fly into Changchun, the Manchurian capital, Mukden, largest city in the territory, and Harbin, most important in Northern Manchuria.

Chinese Communists previously had been reported concentrating about both Changchun and Harbin and ready to take over Mukden if Central government troops on the outskirts tried to move in.

Reds Leave Mukden
A Chinese dispatch yesterday said Communist headquarters at Yen'an had ordered their troops to clear out of Mukden "to conserve the strength of Communist forces."

STEEL STRIKE EARLY IN '46

Pittsburgh, Dec. 11 (AP)—The CIO-United Steelworkers' 175-man wage policy committee gathered here today to decide what one USW spokesman termed "the date of nationwide steel strike."

The spokesman, who refused to allow his name to be used, said the strike announcement would be made sometime today and that the walk-out probably would be called for "sometime in January."

He said there was no foundation to rumors that the USW planned to call a series of strikes, hitting first one company, then another.

FLU AND COLDS CLOSE COLLEGE

Meadville, Pa., Dec. 11 (P)— Spreading influenza and colds forced the closing of Allegheny college yesterday, four and one-half days ahead of the Christmas vacation schedule.

President J. Ritchie Schultz said the action was taken partly as a precautionary measure because many of the students have a considerable distance to travel to their homes.

Dr. Robert Byers, college physician, said 100 students had reported to the college infirmary of whom about 30 required hospitalization. He said about 25 students were sent home.

Basketball games with St. Vincent college and with Oberlin college were cancelled.

The college is scheduled to re-open January 3.

Baltimore, Dec. 11 (P)— The prisoner of war base at Camp Reynolds, Pa., will be closed Jan. 1, the third service command said today. The three branch POW camps which operate from Reynolds—at Kane, Sheffield and Marienville—will not close until Feb. 1.

PULLMAN SALE TO RAIL GROUP IS CHALLENGED

Philadelphia, Dec. 11 (P)— Counsel for a combine of 43 railroads prepared to tell a special expediting court today why the nation's sleeping car business—a fleet of 7,000 cars owned by Pullman, Incorporated, should be sold to them for $75,000,000.

Pullman has told the three-judge panel it wants to sell the sleeper facilities to the railroad group which represents 90 per cent of the country's rail systems.

Three other prospective buyers of the Pullman property, ordered sold by a federal court in an anti-trust decision, yesterday challenged the merits of the railroad group purchase offer.

Lewis Stevens, counsel for Standard Steel Spring company of Coraopolis, Pa., told the three circuit judges—John Biggs, Jr., Albert B. Maris, and Herbert F. Goodrich—that sale to the railroads will "stifle" sleeping car competition.

Charges Monopoly
He asserted, in an oral argument, that Standard Steel was the only "qualified independent" purchaser. The railroads, he said, would eliminate competition between Pullman and themselves if they bought the sleeping car business.

Sale to Otis and company, Cleveland banking firm, would also be monopolistic, Stevens said, since Otis is controlled by "railroad interests." (Affiliated with Otis is financier Robert R. Young, head of the Allegheny corporation which controls the Chesapeake and Ohio, Nickel Plate and Pere Marquette railroads.)

Stevens contended the fourth competing bidder—Glore, Porgan and company, Chicago banking firm—has "no specific plans" nor has shown "competitive ability."

"Scarcity Combine"
Thurman Arnold, former assistant U. S. Attorney General representing Otis, called the railroad offer a "scarcity enterprise" and claimed the roads are "endeavoring to combine to create scarcity of railroad equipment."

He asserted Otis would further competitive enterprise by replacing present obsolete Pullman equipment, establish new fields of tourist travel and create new jobs.

Lee Tierney, Glore counsel, said his client "offers the one and only plan that meets all the requirements of the court and of the anti-trust proceedings."

3 Amateur Bodies Have Joined Forces

New York, Dec. 11 (P)— The National High School, National College and National Amateur Athletic Union have united to form a cradle-to-the-grave athletic program for postwar United States.

The union of the three organizations, each dominant in its own field, is the result of an agreement to "develop amateur athletes, not jealousies," in the words of AAU President Willard N. Greim of Denver.

The new co-operation between the NCAA and the AAU was in evidence yesterday as the U. S. Olympic association, formerly the U. S. Sports Federation, held its first meeting since 1941 and began the work of sending teams to the 1948 Olympic games.

Avery Brundage of Chicago, a past president of the AAU and president of the Olympic group for 16 years, was nominated for reelection by Dr. Wilbur C. Smith of Tulane university, president of the NCAA. Greim then nominated Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson of Chicago, Big Ten commissioner, for vice president.

SANTA And The WHITE BUNNY

Chapter 6

David Talks With Santa
David was wild with excitement when he saw Santa Claus standing on the hill with the dwarfs.

"See!" cried Blue Boy. "You are in luck. Santa has only just dropped in for a visit to find what we wanted in our stockings on Christmas day."

"Come," said Jack Horner. "I will help you up the hill."

Together they climbed the bank. Behind them came Mother Goose and Ole King Cole and Jack the Giant Killer and Little Miss Muffet and all the other folk. And as they climbed they sang the gayest songs!

"If only Mary were all right," thought David. "What a fine time she would have."

At last they reached the top where Santa was joking with the dwarfs. Oh, he looked so happy and so sure of himself that David's heart suddenly lifted for, he thought, surely there is nothing Santa cannot do.

"Who is the fair-haired boy?" asked Santa as David found himself standing before him.

The boy swallowed hard but for a moment he was speechless. So Mother Goose got down from her goose and whispered in Santa's ear.

Then Santa stopped smiling. He reached forward and took the boy's hand. "Tell me about it, David," he said kindly.

Then David told him how he had run away from home and, with red cheeks, repeated the terrible things he had said about Santa himself. Then he told how he and Mary had eaten the gigmy's lunch and how the gigmy had turned Mary into a white bunny.

"And," he finished, "Unless the spell is broken by Christmas day, she will be turned into a white hippopotamus and remain a hippopotamus forevermore."

All the fairy folk shuddered and looked sorrowfully at the boy and his bunny.

"I hate hippopotamuses," said Simple Simon bluntly. "You can easily see why he was called 'simple'."

"Oh, she is such a pretty thing," cried Bo Peep, patting the bunny's head.

King Cole turned to Santa and said, "Can you break the spell?" Santa just stood there thinking hard.

"Of course," he said finally, softly, as if talking to himself. "It is only two weeks till Christmas and I should be back in Santa Land working. Mrs. Claus will be worried too." And he thought some more.

You could fairly hear his brain ticking and David was ready to weep and all the folk were sad and silent. Then Santa said, "We will see what we can do."

Everyone cheered and David laughed with joy. He tucked the bunny under one arm and took Santa's hand. They went into the woods and there, large as a house and tied down to four trees was a mass of what seemed to be both cotton and whipped cream.

"W-what is it?" stammered David as Santa led him into the very midst of it.

"A cloud," said Santa smiling. "Sit down now while I untie the ropes and we'll sail away."

"Where are we going?" asked David who would have been quite frightened had not Santa been there.

"We are going to the gigmy castle," said Santa.

Then he set free the cloud and it rose from the woods while all the folk below waved and cheered and sang.

Another Rockview Escapee Captured

Pittsburgh, Dec. 11 (P)— Charles Oden, 28, who fled Rockview penitentiary with two other inmates December 4, was captured on Monday in a Northside rooming house, Police Officer said.

Use Lt. Charles Tickenstein and water," Tickenstein. Tickenstein and another officer hurried to the room, while three others stood guard at the exits of the home. The two other inmates who escaped Rockview with Oden were re-captured several days ago.

"Me...I'm staying in the Army!"

THERE ARE PLENTY OF REASONS... AND HERE THEY ARE!"

1 "First, I keep my present grade. That means a lot.

2 "By reenlisting for 3 years I can pick my own branch of service in the Air, Ground or Service Forces, and if I desire I can select any of the overseas theaters.

3 "I get $50 a year reenlistment bonus for each year I've been in the Army. I get my mustering-out pay, too. My dependents receive family allowances for the full term of my enlistment. And I'll be eligible for GI Bill of Rights benefits when I get out of the Army.

4 "My food, clothes, quarters, medical and dental care are all supplied to me. And I can learn any of 200 skills or trades in the Army schools.

5 "All of us who are reenlisting are going to have from 30 to 90 days' furlough at home with full pay and our travel paid both ways. And we'll have 30 days' furlough every year with pay.

6 "Any time after 20 years I can retire at half pay increasing year by year to three-quarters retirement pay after 30 years of service. And the time I've already served in active military or naval service counts toward my retirement time. Added up—reenlistment looks good to me!"

ATOMIC BOMBS TO BE TESTED ON WARSHIPS

By ELTON C. FAY
Washington, Dec. 11 (AP)—The United States, as custodian of the atomic bomb, intends to find out what it will do to warships as well as to cities and people.

An Army-Navy announcement disclosed that plans are under way today for a joint test of atomic bombs against naval vessels.

Similarly the results of a detailed, scientific study of the destructive power of nuclear explosion on buildings and humans will be forthcoming in a report of the United States strategic bombing survey in Japan. The first phase of this report is expected within the next three months.

Civilian Horrors
The survey, a group of civilian and military experts appointed a year ago, made its second report on a European study available today—a blood-chilling account of the horrors modern war visits upon civilians. Members of the survey now are making a similar study in Japan, where the aerial bombardment of that country ended with the dropping of two atomic bombs.

The announcement on the forthcoming tests against warships was cryptic. It said only that plans for the operation involve assembling "many naval vessels," extensive use of recording instruments and the gathering of necessary personnel.

Although there has been speculation that captured Japanese naval ships might be used as targets, navy officials say that because they lack such factors as extensive compartmentation, they are not fully comparable to American warships.

Fire Great Killer
The second report of the strategic bombing survey covered the effects of the Allied bombing on German civilian life. The medical branch of the survey found, among other things, that fire was the great

WHAT RATIONING?

Albuquerque, N. M., Dec. 11 (AP)—Food rationing? Shucks, it wasn't any problem at all, restaurantier Gus Bruskas told the OPA.

Bruskas said his cafe had 181,603 red points on hand when meat rationing was ended, and that he voluntarily surrendered 500,000 surplus blue points in the past year.

killer in air raids and that an estimated 500,000 persons died in German cities under the pounding of aerial fleets.

These were the immediate results of the attacks. The doctors who made the study commented: "All aspects of bombing cannot be reported here because they are not as yet readily discernible in their entirety. We feel that the effects of bombing civilian populations are in many ways subtle, long-range effects."

The bombings, they said, brought Germany to the brink of pestilence and famine, a problem that now threatens the postwar administration of the defeated Reich.

Services Held For Blast Victims

Houtzdale, Pa., Dec. 11 (AP)—Funeral services were held here Monday for a mother and her three children who perished last Thursday in a pellet powder explosion at their home in nearby Ramey.

The husband and father, Clarence Caber, 28, who died of burns suffered in the blast was buried at Allentown Saturday.

The other victims of the Clearfield county tragedy were Mrs. Rose Lutz Caber, 26, and the couple's children, Dolores, 7; Eugene, 4, and Robert, 2. They will be buried in St. Barbara's Catholic church cemetery after a funeral mass.

Caber told attendants at Phillipsburg hospital a spark from a kitchen stove apparently ignited a case of pellet powder which he had secured for his work as a miner.

Caber is survived by his mother, Mrs. Calvin Caber of Allentown, Pa. Mrs. Caber's mother, Mrs. Joseph Lutz of Ramey, also survives.

Uniforms for soldiers first appeared in the seventeenth century.
